M.B.A. with a concentration in Human Resource Management

Your achievements as a leader depend on how well you balance the team dynamics of leadership and followership. Executives and leaders in human resource (HR) must effectively manage, motivate, and compensate their employees. The H. Wayne Huizenga College of Business and Entrepreneurship's M.B.A. in Human Resource Management program provides a unique perspective on interpersonal and organizational behaviors, and it teaches various approaches for managing and motivating employees. Enrolling in this program requires that you take many of the traditional courses associated with a general M.B.A. program, along with courses that have been tailored to HR topics.

Upon graduation you will be prepared to lead your company's human resource activities, helping to achieve your organizational goals and objectives. You will gain a solid understanding of general business administration acumen, coupled with specialized HR management skill sets in implementing new procedures, solving conflicts, managing employee benefits and compensation, and training personnel.
